

WEBINAR ON THE APPLICATION OF INTEGRATED MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS (IMS) AS A CENTRALISED SOLUTION FOR ENGINEERING CONSULTANCY IN THE CONSTRUCTION SECTOR

12 August 2025 (Tuesday)

10.00 a.m. to 12.00 noon

Zoom Platform

SYNOPSIS

This session explores the application of Integrated Management Systems (IMS) as a practical and centralised framework to address compliance, operational efficiency, and stakeholder expectations within the engineering consultancy sector, specifically in the construction industry. By integrating ISO 9001 (Quality), ISO 14001 (Environment), ISO 45001 (Occupational Health & Safety), and ISO 37001 (Anti-Bribery), organisations can streamline audits, reduce duplication, enhance risk control, and drive continual improvement. The presentation will include real-life applications, implementation strategies, and lessons learned from consultancy practice.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

- Engineering consultancy professionals involved in quality, environmental, safety, or anti-bribery compliance.
- Project managers and team leads in the construction sector.
- ISO management representatives and internal auditors.
- Compliance officers and governance personnel.
- Senior management seeking to optimise organisational performance through IMS.
- Any professional involved in the implementation or maintenance of ISO standards.
